

Master in International Management

The Master in International Management program has been designed to prepare students for management roles even if they have completed a course of study in a non-business related field

Science of leading and managing people

The 36-credit MIM degree program can be completed within one year. The coursework encompasses a variety of topics in business administration and economics, qualifying students for a future in business administration and public relations.

Many international business positions are available around the world. In addition to basic business principles, students will become familiar with the linguistic, social, economic and political conditions and business practices of several countries. Principles in business administration as well as the application of economics and the psychology of marketing are covered.

No particular field of undergraduate specialization is required for admission to the program, but a year of undergraduate mathematics is strongly advised.

Typical related careers:

-  Sales Director
-  General Operations
-  Director Consultant
-  Business Development
-  Manager HR Director

The experience I gained at Schiller International University has propelled me into an exciting career in the world of International Business. The diversity and wisdom of the instructors, staff and students has taught me how to succeed in the world of global business. It has also taught me to "think outside the box," and opened my mind to possibilities that I was previously unaware. Students of Schiller have an opportunity to take exactly what they need from every lecture and interaction, and apply it to their future success.
